24-27 August 2022 | TALLINN, ESTONIA

14th Pan-European Voice Conference (PEVOC)

Dear colleagues,

The Pan European Voice Conference was first initiated in 1995 by Johan Sundberg and Gunnar Rugheimer. The idea was to create a forum, where specialists from all around the world interested in the human voice could meet and share their discoveries. The good attendance at these conferences shows that PEVoC meets a need, and the scientific quality of the presentations demonstrates that much interesting and important voice research is being done in Europe.

This year, PEVoC is taking place in Estonia's beautiful medieval capital, Tallinn.

Estonia is famous for its song festivals, where about thirty thousand singers gather to perform together for an audience of several hundred thousand.
